

iapd

international association of plastics distribution

media release

Date: March 13, 2014
Contact: Liz Novak, Director of Marketing and Communications
+ 913.345.1005

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Interstate Specialty Products Joins the International Association of Plastics Distribution

OVERLAND PARK, Kans. – The International Association of Plastics Distribution is pleased to announce that Interstate Specialty Products, a fabricator, has joined the association. The company's headquarters is located in Sutton, MA, USA. Interstate Specialty Products performs precision cutting, using traditional and die less cutting methods for a wide array of biotech, electronic and industrial applications. Their 50 years of industry experience, attention to detail and advanced equipment are valued by companies that need a premier partner to conceive, develop and produce high quality components for their products. More information is available at www.interstatesp.com.

"I am pleased to welcome Interstate Specialty Products as a new IAPD member," said IAPD CEO Susan E. Avery, CAE. "IAPD represents that plastics distribution supply chain and most importantly, champions the use of plastics in applications and the use of distribution as the way to market. Companies who are admitted to IAPD as full members of the association must evidence their commitment to the plastics distribution supply chain. The association will be their essential source for networking, training tools, education, information and insight. Through IAPD, they will have access to the thought leaders in the plastics distribution industry."

"Our involvement in industry associations is an important part of our business model," said Phil Cyr, general manager at Interstate. "As an innovative leader in our industry, our customers expect us to be experts in our field. The information and knowledge we obtain from groups like the IAPD is invaluable. We also hope that our decades of experience and our use of leading edge technology for precision cutting services can be a resource for others as well."

About IAPD

The International Association of Plastics Distribution (IAPD), established in 1956, brings together distributors, fabricators, manufacturers, manufacturers' representatives, recyclers and service providers in an environment which encourages a free flow of ideas and information that help members build their businesses. Every program and service we provide is designed with the simple goal of helping our members increase profitability. Membership in IAPD is an affordable business investment. IAPD provides training, connections with customers and suppliers and information about developments that impact the industry. What makes IAPD unique is a commitment to educating customers and

6734 W. 121st Street, Overland Park, KS 66209 USA
phone: +913.345.1005 fax: +913.345.1006
www.iapd.org iapd@iapd.org
Susan E. Avery, CAE, Chief Executive Officer

other key end-users about plastics. In other words, IAPD works with members to build the demand for plastics. Central to this effort is the reinforcement of the value of distribution.

For a full description of membership benefits and to download an application, visit www.iapd.org/join_renew/membership_benefits.cfm.

Connect with IAPD:

6734 W. 121st Street, Overland Park, KS 66209 USA
phone: +913.345.1005 fax: +913.345.1006
www.iapd.org iapd@iapd.org
Susan E. Avery, CAE, Chief Executive Officer